LIVE WEBCAST SERIES 2010

As your information security partner, we are committed to bringing you the most current regulatory guidance information that will allow you to develop stronger risk strategies and policies to protect your financial institution. Our Webcast Series addresses the most current issues facing financial institutions in easy-to-understand presentations, all brought to you in the comfort of your own office. All webcasts are conducted by subject matter experts.

Title: It Takes a Village...Information Security Officer, Customer, and Employee Responsibilities for Protecting Non-Public Information (NPI)

Presenter: Karen Crumbley, Marketing Product Manager, and Dan Geffre, Account Executive

Description: While the latest trends in banking products/services, such as mobile banking and remote deposit capture, create new business opportunities for your financial institution, they also create new security risks that are not always easily defended by the latest technology tools. Information security awareness training is key to protecting NPI. In this webcast we will identify new training tactics that can be used to educate everyone, from your organization's board of directors to your customers, to more effectively manage the protection of important data. Further, we will include a special focus on current trends in cyber threats including prevalent social engineering techniques – such as phishing, smishing, and vishing.

Dates: March 16th, 2010 3:00-3:45 pm EDT; March 25th, 2010 10:00-10:45 am EDT

Title: Proceed with Caution...Social Networking Risk Management Strategies

Presenters: Debi Randol, Compliance Analyst, and Ryan Spanier, Information Security Engineer, Sr.

Description: As highly regulated businesses with special obligations to the public, financial institutions must learn how to effectively manage the risks associated with social networking opportunities in order to elude the attention of fraudsters and regulators. In this webcast we will address the risks posed by social media and provide you with strategies to mitigate that risk. Learn how a properly balanced and coordinated social media strategy can assist your financial institution in reaping the benefits of an exciting new communication channel while avoiding threats to the organization's safety, soundness, and bottom line.

Dates: June 10th, 2010 3:00-3:45 pm EDT; June 15th, 2010 10:00-10:45 am EDT

Title: They Asked for What?! Understanding Examiners/Auditors Expectations for IT/Information Security Management

Presenters: Kimberly Tallant, Compliance Analyst, and Amanda Pruett, Account Executive

Description: Do you know the difference between a Cyber Incident Response Plan and a Computer Incident Response Plan, or between Social Networking and Social Engineering? There is a fine line between interpreting examiners expectations and meeting the compliance needs of your organization. In this webcast we will review common terminology references that can spell the difference between a successful exam/audit and a time-consuming effort to "re-do" what you already have in place. Strategies will be provided for updating/enhancing IT policies, training internal personnel, and completing the "dreaded" pre-exam questionnaire. From the FDIC to the NCUA, financial institutions receive guidance from a myriad of government agencies and regulations. Attend this webcast so we can help you make sense of it all.

Dates: August 12th, 2010 3:00-3:45 pm EDT; August 17th, 2010 10:00-10:45 am EDT
